

Yes, with the right preparation. This course is designed to have you sit for the exam right after the course is completed. If you follow the personal study instruction there is no reason you will not pass on the first time - like so many others have done.